HOUSEHOLD COAL.

HAVING been appointed Sole Agent for the New Vancouver Coal Co., I take pleasure in announcing that the analysis of the Protection Island Coal has proved that it contains the largest amount of fixed carbon and the lightest percentage of ash, which thus entitles it to rank as one of the most economical Household Fuels on the Victoria market. CABLE LETTER Gladstone's Great Influence With the Government—Proposals to Reform the Press.

Alleged Parliamentary Corruption—Religious Instruction in Schools—Queen Victoria's Health.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—That the influence of Mr. Gladstone, despite his retirement from the Liberal leadership, is still paramount in the guidance of the affairs of the party is plainly visible in Lord Rosebery's latest proposal touching the House of Lords. A division of opinion among the members of the cabinet as to what form the resolution for the abolition of the veto power of the House of Lords should take, and regarding the most suitable time for the introduction of the question in the House of Commons, led to Lord Rosebery's visit to Hawarden. Acting under the inspiration he obtained the premier, it is said, foreshadowed in his speech at Glasgow a scheme for a second chamber with on disputed matters between the delegates from the two houses, in which the delegates from the lower house would largely overbalance those from the Lords. Obviously the ministers have under consideration some plan which is still too shadowy to permit of its being disclosed. Sir William Harcourt, chancellor of the exchequer, and Rt. Hon. Henry Campbell-Bannerman, secretary of state for war, opposed Lord Rosebery's desire to introduce the question of the reform of the House of Lords early in the coming session of parliament. They urge that the best course to adopt will be to hold the resolution in reserve until the ministry shall be ready for a dissolution. It is improbable that the Conservative leaders will be willing to wait the convenience of the government. Lord Salisbury is determined to force their hand by passing in the House of Lords immediately the session shall open, a motion affirming the possession by that body of legislative privileges. This will necessitate the introduction in the House of Commons early in the session of a counter-resolution and will cause a crisis which will make a dissolution imperative.

Mr. Labouchere voiced unanimously the conviction of the Liberals and an important section of the Liberal party, when he declared that the coming election would be lost unless the resolution on the House of Lords question should be a stalwart one and distinct from the hotch potch scheme of mixing hereditary and elected peers like an omelette. The second chamber, Mr. Labouchere declared, must be entirely chosen by the

FREE AND UNRESTRICTED VOTES

The statement made by Hon. Edward Blake during his recent visit to Canada that Baron Tweedmouth had offered the McCarthyite section of the Irish party £2,000 will be taken notice of by parliament as an attempt at corruption in the purchase of votes. The members of the Liberal party held that the sum was offered as a liberal contribution to the parliamentary fund. The McCarthyites are able to show clean hands, having rejected the offer, and will not afford their enemies any ground for scandal, but Mr. Blake's reputation for prudence and reticence has suffered severely.

NON-DOGMATIC BIBLE TEACHING

A fierce campaign is proceeding for the London school board election, which involves issues which the religious press speaks of as among the greatest in the history of the metropolis and the country. The vote which will be taken on Thursday will decide whether education shall be controlled by the non-sectarians or by the clericals. Since 1871, under a compromise between the parties has prevailed, but gradually through laxity of the non-sectarians the clerical element on the boards has acquired influence until now they feel strong enough to strike for supremacy. The English High church and the Catholic clergy are united in their work among the electorate and denounce their progressive opponents, though the latter are led by Non-Confessionist ministers and a section of the English church clergy, as enemies of the religion in their intent to secularize the schools. As the result will have a very great effect upon the whole national system public interest in the matter is keen. T. P. O'Connor's advocacy of the cause of the progressives is based upon the fact that all the Liberals had been led by the efforts of the Liverpool Irish go with the Catholic Tories, the rejection of Mr. O'Connor at the next election is certain. The coalition of the English church and Roman Catholic clergy in the struggle over the educational question has disclosed such a close, general re-approchement and so much sympathy as to justify the expectation that an attempt to unite a section of the Anglican church and the church of Rome will soon be renewed.

The Tablet says the religious condition of England is receiving at the present time the special attention of the Curia Romana. According to other advices the Pope personally studies every aspect of the question, and it is stated that His Holiness has ordered to proceed to Rome Abbe Portal Dehors, whose recent work over the non-deplume of "Dalbus" has been very widely discussed. Lord Halifax, who is also an advocate of Papal action looking to a reunion of the churches, will also visit the Vatican shortly. It is reported that the Pope is preparing an appeal to the people of England inviting the Anglican church to assist in the establishment of an entente with the mother church.

ried woman named Ayres. He also seduced the latter's sister, Florence, and when she began to be troublesome, shot her in order to get her out of the way. He was a keen politician and was an aspiring dramatist and song writer. Read, in a letter to a friend in which he sums up his theory of life, said: "What a fraud everything is; with a brass face and no conscience you do as you please. No more hard work for me!"

Observers of the arrival at Windsor of Queen Victoria, noticed that Her Majesty's general weakness and lameness had visibly increased. She required assistance in passing the slightly inclined gangway from the train to the laudau which was waiting.

The love of Emperor Nicholas for English artists extends, it is said, to dancers. As a child he was an enthusiastic admirer of Lydia Thompson, who during a visit to Russia, was summoned to the palace where she taught the present Czar to dance the sailor's hornpipe.

Within a week one cargo of American cattle has been landed at Deptford and another at Newcastle. It is reported that each of these cargoes contained at least one animal affected with pleuro-pneumonia, and that as the slaughter of the cattle proceeded others were found to be infected with the disease. This report, however, appears to be prejudiced and lacks verification by official inspection.

HEAVY FIGHTING.

Reports of a Lively Action a Short Distance North of Port Arthur.

Japan's Minimum Demands—No Prospect of China Assenting to Them.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—A cable dispatch from Shanghai to the Herald says: A Spanish cruiser brings details of heavy fighting a few miles north of Port Arthur. The Chinese, under Generals Sung Chang and Nieh Liu, had 23,000 troops and claim a victory. The garrison of Port Arthur is dwindling through desertions and the place is almost deserted. The Japanese squadron outside Wei-Hai-Wei can scarcely miss Admiral Ting's six vessels, which left Taku on Tuesday.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 17.—In diplomatic circles here the success of mediation between China and Japan is regarded as hopeless. It is rumored that Japan's minimum demands are the surrender of the Chinese fleet and the payment of $125,000,000. Japan to occupy Port Arthur, Wei Hai Wei and the foremost ports until the indemnity has been paid. There is no prospect of China's assenting to such terms.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 17.—Many Russian newspapers view favorably the idea of a cordial understanding between Russia and Great Britain. Such an understanding, it is believed, would be of great advantage to both powers and would tend to ensure European peace. The Novosti approves Great Britain's endeavor to restore peace in the East, and blames Germany for placing obstacles in the way.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—A Yokohama dispatch says that a large number of sick and wounded Japanese soldiers are arriving in Ujina. The last of the conscripts who attained military age within the year 1894 are joining the representative colors.

THE FATHERLAND.

Legislation to Repress Socialism and Anarchism—The New Prussian Cabinet.

BERLIN, Nov. 17.—The measure to check the Socialist and Anarchist agitation will be the first and only one of importance to be submitted to the Reichstag before the Christmas recess. The Frankfurter Zeitung says that the draft as prepared by Count von Caprivi has been altered with such a reactionary tendency by Baron Koeller, Prussian minister of the interior, that Bavaria declines to assent to it. The Augsburger Post says to-day, however, that if the measure be kept within the scope of the common law Bavaria will not object to it. This statement, it says, is made with divergence of views in the federal states as to the degree of severity expedient, but nothing so serious as to prevent an ultimate agreement.

Since Dr. Schoensted's appointment to the ministry of justice, which completed the cabinet, public uneasiness has increased noticeably. The clericals and agrarians have good reason to be satisfied with the new minister of justice, like Prince Hohenlohe and Baron Koeller, he is a Catholic and Protectionist. Although never active in politics, he is known as a fairly moderate conservative man. He certainly is not a feudal reactionist. He enjoys a good reputation among jurists. Those who have worked with him or under him have been impressed with his ability to master details, and they prophesy that he will make a capital minister.

The National Zeitung (Liberal) says: "Schoensted's appointment is a guarantee of an impartial administration of the ministry of justice. His judicial standing and the gravity of his character are designed to satisfy the highest functions of state." The Prussian cabinet as now formed contains four old Prussians, three Hanoverians, one Bavarian, one Badenian and one Hessian. Out of eleven ministers seven belong to the nobility. Although composed of men not in sympathy with Liberal ideas, the cabinet draws an increasing amount of public confidence. No pronounced reactionist policy is to be adopted by the ministers and none is intended by the Emperor.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
OTTAWA, Nov. 17.—The inquiry into freight rates is to open at Winnipeg on Monday. The instructions to the commissioners are as follows: To inquire into alleged discriminations in passenger and freight rates by railways in Manitoba and the Northwest; to inquire into freight charges generally with a view to drawing a comparison between such rates charged on Canadian railways in Manitoba and the Territories and those of the United States. These instructions furnish ample latitude to the commissioners.

A Brutal Burglar.

BELLEVIEW, Nov. 17.—Early this morning the room of Mrs. Adam Saunders at Sidney, eight miles from here, was entered by a burglar, who upon being discovered shot at the woman, putting a bullet through her nose. After the ruffian had secured all her money, some $15, he fired again, putting a bullet through her left ear. He then left the house and the frightened woman rushed into a neighbor's house, where her wounds were attended to. There is no clue to the man's identity.

TO BE HANGED.

The Cheam Indian Murderer, Victor Louis, Found Guilty—To Be Executed January 17.

NEW WESTMINSTER, Nov. 17.—(Special.)—The Louis Victor murder case came to a close to-day. Justice Bole in charging the jury said that in British Columbia life and property were safe up to the present owing to the judge and jury always having done their duty. In this province there was no such thing as seeing people go around armed to the teeth. The evidence was reviewed at great length, the charge being strongly unfavorable to the prisoner. The murdered man had found the Indians drinking in a hop field and was trying to get them home to Cheam. Susannah, the principal witness, swore she saw the deed committed just on their arriving home. To the mind of the court Susannah was an unwilling witness to the truth. She told how Peter came behind the rest in the canoe and when they landed, Louis Victor went back and struck Peter three times with a pole, killing him, his body falling partly in the water and partly on the land. Louis then stooped over him, taking his coat and hat, coming up to them and asking them to say nothing about it. Another witness says Louis then called out "Peter, Peter, Peter," but Peter was beyond the hearing of earthly sounds. The court discredited evidence of the wife and son of the prisoner who had come into court to try and save the life of the husband and father. It looked as if the wife had made up the story and taught it to her son, who repeated it, parrot-like, in court. The jury deliberated for two hours and returned with a verdict of guilty. Justice Bole asked the prisoner if he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed. The prisoner answered "not guilty."

"You have had a fair trial," continued Justice Bole, "and been most ably defended; twelve conscientious, intelligent men have found you guilty of a murder of the greatest barbarity." Prisoner was then sentenced to be hanged. He said loudly in chinook that he had not killed Peter, but was quickly removed.

A number of prisoners were brought in for sentence after the murder trial. To one Adams for assaulting an old Indian with a canoe pole, Justice Bole said: "Prisoner, a man has just been tried for similar offence to yours, striking an Indian with a canoe pole. He killed the Indian and he forfeits his life. You would have killed the Indian if you had not been stopped. The Court sentences you to two years."

To Grace Irving, found guilty of assault in stabbing Fred Turner with a knife, Justice Bole said: "Prisoner, I have considered your case from all sides and think justice will be done if the court sentence you to nine months."

MONTREAL MATTERS.

End of the St. Lawrence Navigation Season—Anti-Toxine Being Prepared.

MONTREAL, Nov. 17.—(Special.)—The season of navigation will close one week from to-day. The last Liverpool steamer, the Mongolian, sails to-morrow.

At the laboratory of McGill University preliminary steps towards the preparation of anti-toxine in Montreal are being taken. Some time during the night the safe at the Theatre Royal was blown open and robbed of $30,000 in American bonds, besides some railway stock, also several hundred dollars of yesterday's receipts.

VANCOUVER.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 17.—Edwards Bros. are developing 120 negatives of British Columbia, obtained by the Countess of Aberdeen's own personal manipulation of the camera. They are to be used in producing engravings for the purpose of illustrating a book to be published by the Countess of her trip through Canada.

W. J. Meakin is seriously ill and is not expected to live more than a few days.

The St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society have elected the following officers: D. Robertson, president; J. B. Smith, vice-president; D. W. At the corner of McKenzie and Columbia streets this afternoon the telephone wire broke and fell across the tram wire, a portion lying on the ground. A horse belonging to Gregory's express joggling along struck the wire with his shoe. In an instant the horse was killed by a current 500 volts strong.

WESTMINSTER.

WESTMINSTER, Nov. 17.—The Westminster local Union of Christian Endeavor had their quarterly meeting last night. An interesting paper was read by Mr. Lloyd on Junior Societies. Short and encouraging reports were read from the different societies in the union and a brief discussion followed.

The first snow of the season began to fall early in the afternoon. Shortly after sundown it fell in considerable quantities and the ground was soon covered to a depth of three inches.

According to the Columbian J. R. Burton, official stenographer of the Supreme court, has been missing since Monday last, when he went to Vancouver. A bench warrant was issued against him at Vancouver for non-compliance with an order of the court in connection with the paying over of a sum of money held by him as receiver for the News-Advertiser bindery business. This action can hardly be the cause of his absence, as it is understood he had a contract account for salary amounting to nearly that sum. He left everything in his lodging house as he usually did on going to business every morning. Mr. Burton is a married man and has one child.

NANAIMO.

NANAIMO, Nov. 17.—Wesley Harvey, colored, in a speedy trial before Judge Harrison to-day, on a charge of the theft of four pigs, was acquitted.

VERNON.

(From the News.)

The Morning Star mine at Fairview is about to start up work for the winter, and will keep the Strathgry Company's mill busy. Walter Gardner has secured the contract for hauling twenty tons of ore per day for five months.

Flowers are blooming luxuriantly in several gardens at Enderby.

Despite the fact that the greater part of the Kettle river mail goes by way of Marcus, the increase in the amount of mail that goes by way of Osoyoos has been simply enormous during the past few months.

On Monday night the Ram's Horn hotel, Lumley, was completely destroyed by fire. The C.P.R. have made a rate of 42 cents per 100 pounds on ore sent to Vancouver from Penticton for treatment by the cyanide process, shipment not to exceed 2,000 pounds.

T. A. Sharp, manager of the experimental farm at Agassiz, recently visited the Coldstream ranch, and was much pleased with the appearance of the flourishing young orchard on that estate. He agrees in the opinion that a second experimental farm should be established in this district, as the climatic conditions here are so dissimilar to those at Agassiz as to render the work there carried on of little practical benefit to interior farmers.

Mountain sheep are reported to be very plentiful this fall up Short's creek on the west side of the lake. Mr. E. J. Wilson killed two good sized rams. Mr. Wilson says he has seen over 300 sheep this fall. Mr. W. C. Pound has two splendid specimens of mountain sheep heads brought in last week by Mr. D. Gellatly. They were killed on the west side of Okanagan lake, and Mr. Gellatly came upon them while they were engaged in a fierce contest.

NELSON.

(From the Tribune.)

Two feet of good galena ore have been struck on the Mamie claim at Ainsworth.

The 5-stamp mill on the O K mine, in the Trail creek district, crushes between seven and eight tons of ore every 24 hours. About $50 a ton is saved on the plates, and the concentrates are worth about $500 a ton.

The flume to convey water from the little lake on the Lakeside mineral claim to the power-house at the Silver King mine, on Toad mountain, two miles long, has been completed.

Although the ores of White Grouse mountain are gold, silver and copper bearing, they differ much from those of Toad mountain, which are designated as "bonite," i.e. the sulphide of copper and iron carrying the nobler metals.

The machinery for the concentrator between New Denver and Three Forks has been delivered at the concentrator site, duty free. The machinery for the sampling works at Pilot Bay were also admitted free. It was manufactured in Chicago.

The Northern Belle mine, in Jackson basin, Slocan district, is again a producer. Last month "Bob" Jackson and one miner took out and sacked 55 tons of high grade ore, and have ore in sight. Mr. Jackson will probably ship to the Pilot Bay smelter. He can lay the ore down at Kaslo for $11 a ton.

The shareholders of the Nelson Hydraulic Mining Company, Limited, have elected J. F. Ritchie president, R. J. Bealey, vice-president, and G. W. Richardson, secretary and treasurer, who along with John Elliott and F. M. McLeod, are the board of directors.

The placer excitement has again broken out on Kaslo creek and a number of claims have been staked out between Kaslo and Kemp's springs. Within one-fourth of a mile of Kemp's, Mr. Pratt of the Three Forks Prospector, A. M. Otto of Kaslo, and a Mr. Russell of Three Forks have each a claim. Mr. Otto, an experienced California placer miner, remarked the day of his location that he would not take $500 cash for his claim. Parties are now prospecting between Kemp's and the north and south forks of Kaslo creek.

It is claimed that Manager Peyton has decided to ship the Le Roi ore to Trail, and not to Northport as reported.

It is not at all impossible that another copper-silver district will be opened up tributary to Kootenay lake within the next twelve months. During the past season George Nowell, the Black brothers and a few others have been cutting out and grading a trail from Davis townside, ten miles south of Pilot Bay, to the White Grouse mountain claims. The Kootenay Mining & Smelting Company at Pilot Bay, who are now taking all dry ores offered, are anxious to secure the output of these mines, to be used as a dry ore to mix with the ores of other sections. One of the veins, the Copper King system, has been located in continuous claims a distance of nearly 15,000 feet, or about three miles, while on the other parallel lodes locations have been made for upwards of a mile.

SHIPS AND SHIPPING

The "Prince Rupert" and Her Reported Sale—Departure of the "Senta."

No Hope For the "Crown of England"—Re-establishment of the Oregon Line.

In spite of denials by persons ignorant of the facts the information published in the Colonist last month to the effect that the steamer Prince Rupert, alleged to have been intended for the Victoria-Vancouver route, had been sold for use of the Chinese government is pretty well confirmed. Yesterday Dr. Lang, of this city, received a letter from his brother, the electrical engineer at Dumfries, Scotland, who superintended the fitting out of the electric plant on the steamer, stating that the Prince Rupert has been sold to the Chinese, of course by a roundabout route designed to prevent international complication. It will be remembered that the Prince Rupert started from Glasgow ostensibly for Victoria. When she reached Tenerife she was recalled to Plymouth, where her crew were discharged. What caused the sudden change in the intentions of her owners was a matter of surprise till a rumor arose that the vessel had been purchased for a troopship and transport by the Chinese government. The news received by Dr. Lang confirms this, as his brother is in a position to know what is to be done with the vessel. The Prince Rupert is admirably fitted for the transport service. He lines are designed expressly for great speed; her 3,000 horsepower engines and paddle-wheels 18 feet in diameter being capable of sending her along at a rate of 20 knots an hour. The Prince Rupert would, therefore, on account of her great speed be of wonderful service to the Chinese in their war with Japan.

MAY RE-ESTABLISH THE LINE.

It is stated that the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company will re-establish the steamship line between Portland and Puget Sound, touching at British Columbia points. The steamer Elder, which is now discharging a cargo of coal and freight at Portland, will immediately load with a cargo of grain for San Francisco. On her return from that trip she will probably be put permanently and regularly on the Portland-Puget Sound run. Negotiations are also in progress between the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company and Sutton & Beebe, owners of the steamer Portland, the name given to the re-christened Haytian Republic, by which this steamer may be put on the run between Portland and Puget Sound under contract with the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company.

THE "CROWN OF ENGLAND."

A San Francisco dispatch of yesterday says: The tug Fearless has returned from the wreck of the British steamer Crown of England at Santa Rosa island. The captain says it is impossible to float the steamer. The bulkheads are all gone and the bottom of the starboard side is full of holes, and the tide ebbs and flows through the hull. Captain Metcalf, Lloyd's surveyor, is now on his way back to this port. It is believed he will report the vessel a total loss.

THE "SENTA" AWAY.

The German barque Senta has finished loading salmon at the Phoenix mill on the Fraser and is ready for sea. She is bound for Liverpool and has on board 45,000 cases of salmon, weighing 1,500 tons.

MARINE NOTES.

The steamer Garland, which has just been rebuilt, filed her measurements with the collector of customs at Seattle on Friday. The boat originally had a gross tonnage of 102 and a net tonnage of 68 3/4, while now she has a gross tonnage of 160 61 and net 115.44. She is now provided with electric lights and other modern appliances, which add greatly to the conveniences.

The steamer Delta made her third trip to Victoria from Bellingham Bay and the neighboring islands yesterday, bringing in about ten tons of hay, grain and potatoes. The Boscovitz's sailing date is now fixed for Monday, a postponement of two days having been found necessary in order to get aboard all the freight offering for the North.

DEAR SIRS.—I was covered with pimples and small boils and after obtaining no relief from a doctor tried different remedies without success until one Sunday I was given 3 of a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, by the use of which the sores were sent flying in about one week's time. I made up my mind never to be without B.B.B. in the house, and I can highly recommend it to all.

"HYDE FARM"

SHAWNIGAN DISTRICT

IS A MAGNIFICENT PROPERTY, containing 484 acres, suitable for mixed farming. A large portion of the Farm has formerly been cropped. There are large portions of it that are suitable for Grazing and Dairying Purposes. Now that Hops are likely to become one of B. C.'s profitable crops, a couple of hundred acres of Hyde Farm could be utilized for this purpose. The Farm is supplied with an abundance of water the year round, and water for power can be secured from the falls of the Koksilah River, which stream is the boundary line of the property on one side. Brick Clay, Lime Rock and Bog Iron Ore exist on the Farm, with the prospect of Coal also being discovered. There is plenty of Timber for all purposes, some of it of a merchantable character.

"HYDE FARM"

Is a short distance from the E. & N. Railway Line at either end of the property, and the Victoria and Nanaimo Wagon Road passes through it, therefore it is specially well located for shipping purposes. Excellent Shooting and Fishing is to be had on the property and in the Koksilah River. Deer, Grouse, Duck and Geese abound. In fact Hyde Farm is well located for all practical and pleasureable purposes, and is a chance not often met with for a man of moderate means to secure a small estate, which is sure to become extremely valuable, as the development of the Island progresses. In the meantime its utilization for Mixed Farming or Cattle Raising Purposes would bring in a fair income.

ON THE FOOTBALL FIELD.

The "Wanderers" Administered a Crushing Defeat to the Barrack Athletics

Defeat for Victorians at Somenos—The Plowing Match at Saanich.

The Wanderers and the Barracks Athletics met on the Caledonia grounds yesterday afternoon and the Athletics received a rather crushing defeat by eight goals to one. The teams as they lined up at 3 o'clock were as follows:

Barrack Athletics.
Lyons. Seward.
Hall. Cannon. Shaw. Henberg.
Kelly. Townsend. Simmons. Rainn.
Barracough. Johnson.
McCann. Dick. Roden. Goward.
Deckers. Niven. Glen.
Petticrow. Hook.
Wriglesworth. Hook.
Wanderers.

The Wanderers lost the toss and kicked off to the right; Peden centred but Hall cleared in fine style by a long kick. For some time the game was one of long kicking by the backs and tackling on the part of the half-backs. None of the forwards even attempted to shoot, with the result that the game was very uninteresting, the play being chiefly at the Athletic end of the field. Several corners were awarded in rapid succession to the Wanderers, but nothing came of the kicks. Then the Athletics had a look in and came near scoring, which they would have done but for the coolness of Hood, who played his usual steady game; indeed the backs on both teams had the play to themselves in the first half. From a long kick by Petticrow, followed up with some dashing play by Deckers, who quickly passed to McCann who centred beautifully, Johnson scored the first goal for the Wanderers. Just before half time they again scored from a scrimmage in front of goal.

The second half was productive of better play all round, both teams putting up improved combination and using great judgment in passing, while several good shots were thrown, although all wide of mark. Wakening up the Wanderers put on two other goals rapidly and the Athletics retaliated by scoring their only goal from a beautiful shot by the left wing forwards. For a time they made it lively for the champion cupholders, but the determined onslaught of the soldiers seemed to put the Wanderers on their mettle and the spectators were treated to some of their cup-tie form. The Wanderers scored four other goals and by the end of the game were playing beautifully, and evidently as fresh as when they started, while the Athletics were plainly tired. The long, broad ground of the Caledonia Park seemed to nonplus them as they are used to a short, narrow field. Barracough, Kelly, Simmons, Hall, Stewart and Shaw were the pick of the Athletics, while Goward, McCann, Dick, Deckers, Glen and Hook wrought hard for the Wanderers. Several interesting Association events are to be brought off soon if the weather holds fine.

VICTORIA SECOND FIFTEEN V. COWICHAN.

The above match, played at Somenos yesterday, after a hard struggle resulted in a win for Cowichan by a score of eight points (a goal and a try) to nil. Victoria won the toss and their opponents kicked off at 1:10 p.m. The city team rushed the ball for the first ten minutes and looked like scoring, but were afterwards placed on the defensive for the rest of the first spell, Cowichan securing two tries, one of which was converted into a goal. One of these tries was obtained through reckless passing by one of the three-quarters on the goal line.

After changing ends Victoria pressed their opponents very hard, and over and over again were within a yard of the coveted line. For ten minutes the ball hovered in the vicinity of the Cowichan goal, but the visiting team was greatly handicapped by the lightness of their forward division, and in the series of scrums that followed the oval was worked back to neutral territory. Here the backs of both sides made desperate attempts to break through, but without avail, and time was called with the leather well in the Victoria 25.

The Cowichan backs on the whole played well, Holton, Musgrave, Jackson and Ransom showing best form. Their forwards also played a hard game, and scored the scrums with useful results. In this division Nixon, Johnston and Broadwood were conspicuous.

Of the Victoria backs, Eteson, Ward and Anderson put up a good game, Pollock, Schofield and Byrn also played well, but were troubled with the greasy ball. The three-quarters made the mistake of passing in their own 25. K. Macrae, Wintour and F. Macrae distinguished themselves by their good honest work in the scrum.

AT THE HILL.

There was a good practice game at Beacon Hill yesterday afternoon between teams captained by Messrs. Jones and Foulkes. The result was in favor of Jones' team by seventeen points to seven.

TO MEET THE "HORNETS."

At a committee meeting of the Victoria Rugby Football Club held last evening, the following team was selected to play against the Nanaimo Hornets next Thursday: H. Petticrow, full back; J. M. Miller, H. B. Haines, C. W. Ward and J. F. Foulkes, three-quarter backs; R. A. Whyte and F. E. Smith, half backs; H. F. M. Jones (captain), L. Crane, W. H. Langley, E. A. Carow-Gibson, D. O'Sullivan, H. W. Gordon, J. Fraser and Q. H. D. Warden, forwards. By kind permission of the James Bay A. A. the use of the gymnasium has been granted to the above team on Monday and Tuesday afternoons at 5:30, and the committee trust that every member of the team will attend on Monday at the above hour, when it will be put to the ballot of those present whether Thursday's game is to be played on the Caledonia grounds or Beacon Hill.

A PROBABLE FIXTURE.

It is expected that Vancouver will send their second XV to play the Victoria seconds here on Thanksgiving Day. The following team has been selected to represent Victoria: R. Schofield, full back; A. D. Crane, P. B. Eteson and H. W. F. Pollock, three-quarter backs; F. Ward and A. C. Anderson, half backs; W. Duncan, F. Duncan, A. Langley, C. J. Wintour, J. K. Macrae, F. Macrae, Hanson, T. Pooley and J. O'Reilly, forwards.

FERNWOODS VS. VICTORIA COLLEGE.

The return match between the above clubs was played yesterday and resulted in a win for the Fernwoods, the score being one to nil. The teams playing were as follows: Fernwoods—Cameaux, Kinsman, Huxtable, Siddall, Wilson, Dier, P. Johnston, W. Winsby, W. N. Winsby, L. Campbell, and R. Campbell.

Victoria College—Greenfield, Goward,

Erb, Green, Kitto, J. Macleod, R. Wilson, J. Lawson, G. Wilson, H. Lawson, and P. Higgins.

The goal was kicked by L. Campbell.

A CENTRAL SCHOOL VICTORY.

The Victoria West Association footballers were defeated in a match with the Central school team yesterday, the score being six goals to nil.

A WIN FOR MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Nov. 17. — (Special) — The Montreal Rugby football team defeated the Osgoode Hall team this afternoon by 15 points to 8.

THE CANADIAN CHAMPIONSHIP.

OTTAWA, Nov. 17. — (Special) — The Ottawa College team to-day beat Queen's University for the Rugby football championship of Canada by eight points.

THE PLOW.

YESTERDAY'S CONTEST AT SAANICH.

The North and South Saanich plowing match, which is the first held for about twelve years, took place at South Saanich yesterday and proved very successful. There were not quite so many competitors as had been anticipated, but those who did turn out did work that was certainly a credit to the plowmen of the district. The following are the prize winners: Professional—1, A. Thompson, $25; 2, A. Rose, $20.

Amateurs—1, C. McIlmoyle, $20. Boys—1, E. Hutchins, $10; 2, H. B. Thompson, $7.50.

The "Solid Comfort" plow which was presented by Messrs. Nicholles & Renouf, Ltd., was worn by Mr. G. Stimel, working for Mr. Fred. Turgoose, with W. Watts and J. Bell as runners up.

HERE AND THERE.

The Victoria Rugby Football Club are shortly to lose one of their steadiest and most reliable players, Mr. R. A. Whyte, who having secured a lucrative position in Glasgow, removes to the land of his birth. Both socially and in the field of sport he will be greatly missed.

The Union Gun Club's grounds at Oak Bay will be open to the trap-shooting public on Thanksgiving day, for which date an interesting programme is being arranged. The grounds are just now in the best possible condition.

The J. B. A. A.'s second run for the season will start from the club house to-morrow (Monday) evening, at 8:30 o'clock. Club members and footballers are requested to turn out in force.

The race for the Derby cup and two thousand sovereigns was won yesterday by Dumbarton, Harlequin II. second and Esmond third.

P. J. Donahue, the sporting writer, whose nom de plume was "P. J.," well known throughout the union, died yesterday.

ENCOURAGEMENT TO MINING.

TO THE EDITOR:—In moving the reply to the speech from the throne, the senior member of Victoria City said, "that every encouragement ought to be given to investors of capital in the country." This certainly is correct, and in no branch of industry may we look for more investment of capital than in our mines, therefore the government ought to consider means by which the mineral wealth of the country should be brought before investors of capital, and detailed and more reliable information published than is contained in our present mining report which does not go far enough into the matter. In fact we have very little authentic and up to date information relative to the mines of this Province.

The B. C. Board of Trade has lately been impressed with the importance of keeping our mineral wealth before the investing public, and has arranged to make a collection of ores to be kept on exhibition, thereby inducing capitalists to put money into our mines. This all tends to open up and develop the province. The government in a like manner should see the importance of publishing information regarding our greatest natural source of wealth, and the present session ought not to pass without something being done in this direction. Very little "encouragement" ought to be needed to induce people to invest money in our mines, as only a plain and official statement of facts is required to give confidence to capitalists to invest their money in the development and prosecution of mining in this province.

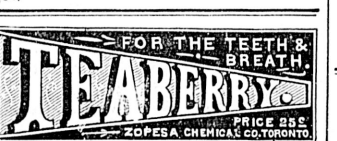

PROSPECTOR, B. C.

SEWERAGE WORKS INSPECTION.

TO THE EDITOR:—As a contributor of a considerable amount of money towards paying the expenses of the city of Victoria, I desire to ask the City Engineer through the medium of your paper, if two inspectors—each drawing $4 per day—are necessary to protect the interests of the city in the construction of the sewer on Bastion street, between Wharf and Langley streets. The contractors performing this work will be engaged blasting rock for some time to come. At present, in my opinion, there is no need for any inspection. RATEPAYER.

This Property is within easy distance of many of the most important Gold, Silver and Coal Mines in West Kootenay. The soil is the best bottom land, and the locality is one of the few places in the Province where so large a piece of good farm land can be found in one block. A river runs through the property, and rainbow trout are plentiful and afford capital sport. Deer abound in considerable numbers. Bear, Wolf, Coyote and other large game are to be found in the hills. There are two creeks recorded and belonging to the estate, one flows all the year round. Limestone and brick clay are to be had in the valley.

The Gattle are well bred; a much larger herd could be farmed with the place. The bunch grass on the hills in the vicinity covers many thousands of acres, and is available to the few land owners in the valley.

The Climate is not severe, the station was for many years the winter quarters of the H. B. Co.'s pack trains.

The Title is Crown Grant. Immediate possession can be given.

PESSIMISTIC BREATHINGS.

Any person, other than a full-fledged pessimist, reading the article in the News-Advertiser, wherein the Hon. Mr. Turner, Minister of Finance, is brought to task as being accountable for a falling off in the revenues of the province for the last financial year, must on reflection condemn the charge as unjust. There is but one conclusion at which every reasonable man must arrive as to the cause for which the anticipations of the Minister of Finance were not realized. This province, though not apparently so much affected as some other portions of the Pacific Coast owing to the depression of trade which has existed for the last two years in almost every portion of the world, proportionately feels the hard times. This, in conjunction with the unhappy visitation of the disastrous floods during last spring, has a great deal more to do with the shrinkage of the revenue than any miscalculation of the Minister of Finance in making the estimate.

Whilst the News-Advertiser is correct in stating that the revenue, although estimated for the financial year ended June 30, 1894, at $1,058,691, only realized $821,660, showing a shortage of $237,031, it is uncharitable to lay the blame solely on the shoulders of the Hon. Mr. Turner. The Minister of Finance has proven by estimates submitted for previous years that the revenue of the Province was based on a thorough knowledge of its productiveness. Mr. Turner, therefore, cannot by any parity of reasoning be held accountable for the falling off from his estimate in consequence of unforeseen circumstances.

The difference between the actual amount received and the amount estimated occurs principally from sources which, under ordinarily favorable circumstances, could almost to a certainty be relied on; but the subsequent depression in nearly every business and trade rendered the sources not as productive as was reasonably expected. For instance, land sales, real property tax, personal property tax, wild land tax and revenue tax, estimated at $481,000, yielded but $266,440, showing a falling off of $214,560. It may easily be understood that, with such estimates taken from actual sources on which there was but little conjecture as to their productiveness, the sole cause of the discrepancy in the revenue is not attributable to an over-estimate, but to the stringency of the times, which could not possibly be foreseen, as these sources are in arrears, the amounts being actually due and collectable. It is also to be noticed that until last year all these sources of revenue have rapidly increased—rising from $136,000 in 1887 up to $251,000 in 1893. Furthermore, all the estimates of revenue made by the Finance Minister up to this time have been every year exceeded by the actual amount received. So much has this been the case that the Opposition have asserted that the Finance Minister purposely under-estimated revenue.

Referring to the charge of over-expenditure, this is a matter of policy of the Government. Where the country requires development, liberal supplies are granted which, if further needs occur, are supplemented and approved by the Legislature. The Minister is only carrying out the will of the Legislature in paying for any expenditure so provided. It is true that in addition to the supply voted for the financial year ended June 30, 1894, considerable sums had to be expended in consequence of the floods which expand the total somewhat beyond the sum voted. That there is a deficit for the year ended June 30, 1894, no one attempts to deny. It was simply a poor year for revenue and, through unforeseen circumstances, a much larger expenditure than could have been foreseen had to be made in various sections of the Province, both of which causes necessarily affect the forecast of the Minister of Finance in his budget for that year.

INSPECTION NEEDED.

Anyone who has listened to the complaints and accusations of some of the inmates of the Old Men's Home cannot be surprised that the formal enquiry by the Mayor and aldermen has not resulted in convincing them that the men have been badly used and neglected. The greater number of the complaints which they poured into the ears of those who were good-natured and patient enough to listen to them were trivial, and it could be easily discerned that there was a strong flavor of spitefulness and ill-nature in the tales they told to outsiders. It seemed to us that two or three of the old men, having nothing better to do, relieved the tedium of their many idle hours by inventing and magnifying grievances and picking the character of the superintendent to pieces. This was not exactly an innocent occupation for the poor old fellows, but what was one to expect? Those of them who are good-natured and kindly smoked their pipes contentedly, did what few jobs there were to do and amused themselves retailing stale news and telling old stories. But the cantankerous inmates who have perhaps a little more intellectual activity than their easy-going companions could not content themselves with living an almost vegetable life. They managed to make some stir in the institution to get up a little excitement by grumbling about the treatment they received and by growling at and finding fault with Mr. Sutherland.

We do not know that it was wise in the City Council to take them seriously. If its members wanted information as to how the men were treated and whether the Home was managed well or not, they could easily have obtained the needed information without listening to the tales and the murmurings of the old men. To encourage them to act the part of spies on the Superintendent and to countenance tale-bearing, are not calculated to keep up a healthy moral tone in the institution or to support the superintendent's authority as in order to ensure obedience and to maintain discipline it must be supported. Let the childish and ill-natured among the inmates of the Home once know that they can make trouble for the superintendent by complaining of him to outsiders, they will always continue to keep him in hot water and to make their companions uncomfortable, and perhaps discontented.

The Home should be under official inspection, but the old men should not be the self-constituted inspectors. The superintendent should not be the irresponsible master of the men placed under his care. The inspectors should visit the institution periodically, and if the old men had any complaints to make or any grievance to ventilate they should communicate with the inspectors, who could easily make the necessary inquiries and have what was wrong put right. It should be an offence punishable by reprimand or deprivation of privileges for the men to complain of the management to outsiders, and the City Council should depend entirely upon the inspectors for the time being for a knowledge as to how the Home was conducted. The want of regular official inspection has, we believe, been the real cause of the late troubles in the Home. It would not be requiring too much of the Aldermen to expect one or two of them to visit the home once a month to inspect it and to see how the old men are getting on. We think, too, that an occasional visit from a clergyman would have a good effect. We were amazed to hear from one of the inmates not long ago that not a single clergyman of any denomination had up to that time entered the doors of the Old Men's Home. The old men are entitled to kindly, sympathetic treatment. They should not have reason to feel that they are deserted by the younger and more fortunate men of the community. What can be done in reason to make them comfortable and happy should be done. It is not enough that they are fed and clothed at the public expense. With them as with the rest of us "the life is more than meat and the body than raiment."

A VIGOROUS DEFENCE.

Sir Charles Tupper, in a letter to the Halifax Chronicle in justification of what he had said in Parliament relative to the necessity which the British are under of spending "millions on their navy and millions on their army to force their goods and their merchandise into the uncivilized markets of the world," quotes a part of a speech delivered by Lord Salisbury. This is the passage in full:

You know how the industry of this town is being cramped and fettered and confined by the growing wall of hostile tariffs, which shut you out from most of the markets of the world. (Hear, hear.) I will not now discuss how far it may be possible for diplomacy to relieve you of that confinement. I fear that most of the offers, most of the advantages, which we might have offered to other nations of the world in return for more favorable tariffs have been thrown away by the want of foresight of former legislators. I doubt if that evil can be retraced; but, at all events, you must consider this, that if you are being shut out by tariffs from the civilized markets of the world, the uncivilized markets have become more and more precious to you. Indeed, these uncivilized markets threaten to become the only field for the operations of a profitable business, and as civilization progresses and exploration increases, those uncivilized markets will be thrown open to you if only no power is allowed to interpose between you with its hostile tariffs and the benefits for which you look. (Hear, hear.) The policy of the Government has been, in place after place, to allow these markets to be stolen from you. You know that in the Congo a treaty has been made which will have the effect of putting a highly protective and prohibitory tariff between our industry and the consumption of the vast native population of Africa. (Hear, hear.) The same thing is the case in Madagascar. The French are being allowed to surround it, to make claims upon the sea coast which will enable them to set up their tariffs and prevent you from reaching these markets. Russia, too, is advancing across Central Asia and shutting out the markets there from Manchester. (Hear, hear.) At all these points the industry of this country is suffering. The Government is allowing other Governments to interfere and to raise barriers of hostile tariffs. And I ask myself, why is our Government powerless to do its duty to the country? (Cheers.) Well, my answer is, because it has sacrificed the great aim of this country—it has sacrificed our military credit. (Cheers.)

Sir Charles, to maintain his position, quotes freely from the London Times, from "British Commerce and Colonies" by Gibbins, and from the speeches and writings of eminent and loyal British subjects. It was unwise in Mr. Laurier to accuse the Minister of Marine of slandering and insulting Great Britain by what he had said of the trend of British commerce. British subjects whose loyalty is beyond question, men who if it were required would willingly lay down their lives for their country, speak in the plainest and most forcible manner of British public affairs and British public men. They are not in the least afraid of being misunderstood or misinterpreted. One of the most attractive features of British freedom in the Mother Country is the wide latitude of criticism permitted to men of every shade of political opinion. As we have seen, Sir Charles Tupper did not express himself at all more strongly on the subject of British trade than Lord Salisbury, or half as strongly as many less eminent but equally loyal men. His critic, Mr. Laurier, put a heavy strain on British toleration when he, speaking in the United States to an American audience, said:

In my opinion the conduct of England, of Canada, towards the United States during the war was a disgrace to the civilization of England, of Canada. The American people could fight their own battles; they required no help; but when they were engaged in a supreme struggle for the life or death of this great nation, when they were fighting for a cause as great, as holy as ever engaged the devotion of men; when they had reason to expect the outpoken sympathy of those nearest to them, it was galling that Southern privateers could be built, manned and equipped in England, with the passive connivance of the British Government, to destroy American commerce on the high seas; it was galling that rebel refugees could find shelter in Canada, and there, with impunity and without provoking condemnation, plot abominable crimes to help secession.

Sir Charles H. Tupper quotes the above passage and very properly asks, "Was that or was it not a slander?"

WILSON ON HIS COUNTRYMEN.

Mr. Wilson, of tariff fame, in a speech which he recently made, said the kick which the Democratic party received was from the American people, and that there was not much brains behind the kick. When it is considered that hundreds of thousands voted against the Democratic candidates because the times are hard, it is not surprising to find Mr. Wilson speaking so plainly and so pointedly. The man in the United States who attributes the hard times to the party now in power either knows better but wants to deceive those who hear him, or he is so ignorant and so incapable of reasoning as to believe what he says. It would be quite as reasonable to say and to believe that the visit of Lord Aberdeen to Victoria was the cause of Friday night's frost, as to assert and to think that the Democratic party brought hard times on the United States.

In the first place, the hard times were and are not confined to the United States. Times were hard in South America, in Australia and in Great Britain before they were at all severely felt in the United States. In the second place, the business depression was sensibly felt before the election campaign of 1892. The hard times were in the States before Mr. Cleveland was inaugurated. So generally were they felt and so much distress did they cause, that Mr. Cleveland was hardly in the President's chair when there was a demand from all quarters of the country to call an extra session of Congress to save the country from ruin. And when he did not comply with that demand as soon as it was made an outcry was raised against him. Mr. Cleveland's acts did much to lessen the severity of the strain on business and to restore general confidence. The change in the tariff afterwards did something to make times better, and it promises to do more. But the American people appear to have forgotten that the hard times began long before the Democrats were in power, and they do not seem to have sense enough to see that the causes that brought them must have been at work while the Republicans were in office. The hard times and Democratic rule existed at the same time, and millions of electors sagely concluded that one was the cause of the other. In laying the blame of the hard times on the Democrats, and in punishing them because of the suffering from the business depression, the American electors exhibited the same amount and quality of thinking power as the angry child does when he strikes the leg of the table against which he has fallen to punish it for having hurt him. Mr. Wilson was right—there were not much brains behind the kick.

CERTAIN correspondence is unavoidably held over.

ALD. HARRIS has given notice of a by-law providing for the annual revision of the municipal voters' list.

THE views taken at Government House on the occasion of the Governor-General's visit are now on sale at the Imperial studio.

ALEXANDER H. MONTGOMERY, of Vancouver, has been granted a divorce from his wife Maud by Judge Humes of Seattle.

It is the presidents (not all members) of the local societies of ladies who are requested to attend to-morrow's meeting of the Victoria branch of the Women's Councils of Canada at the city hall.

THERE was but one case in the city police court yesterday, a fine of $2.50 being imposed for an infraction of the health by-law. To-morrow will be a busy day according to present appearances, several cases standing adjourned until Magistrate Macrae's return from Vancouver.

THE Ladies' Aid Society in connection with St. Andrew's Presbyterian church are making great preparations for their social, to be held in the lecture room on the evening of the 27th instant. There will be a number of interesting items, as several musical friends are greatly interested in its success.

A FEW complete sets of the "Masterpieces from the Art Galleries of the World" are still on hand, and should be applied for immediately as they are selling rapidly. Cut out the coupon appearing on page four of this paper and send or bring it to the COLONIST office with ten cents for each part required.

THE civil service examinations were concluded yesterday. The candidates were examined in reading, penmanship, arithmetic, geography, history (Canada, France, Britain and the United States), orthography, grammar, composition, transcription, précis writing, bookkeeping, stenography and typewriting.

THE sale of work at the W.C.T.U. Home, 108 Cormorant street, yesterday, was attended by a number of representative ladies, all of whom purchased the useful or ornamental, thus manifesting their hearty interest in and active sympathy with the home and its good work. The sunshine of the afternoon cast a halo over the proceedings, to which cheer was added by the excellent tea, coffee and cake provided by the ladies of the board.

THE "at home" of the officers and members of the Pacific Club on Tuesday evening at the club rooms on Fort street promises to be a most interesting affair. Professor Buck has charge of the musical programme, with a whole host of talent at his disposal. Being the first social gathering of the kind in Victoria the committee are sparing no expense in making it a success. Over one hundred invitations to lady friends have already been issued.

THE Thanksgiving entertainment to take place on Wednesday evening at the Centennial church promises to be one of more than ordinary interest. Four young ladies representing the four great industries of British Columbia—fishing, mining, sealing and lumbering—will each undertake to show that the one they represent is of the greatest value to the province. Solos will be given by some of Victoria's favorite singers, Mrs. Moffin and Mrs. Clyde being among the number.

CAPTAIN BYERS accidentally put a charge of number four shot into his brother's leg yesterday. Captain Byers had been out shooting and on his return home sat down across the room from his brother Thomas and proceeded to extract a couple of shells from his gun. One of them seemed to stick and Captain Byers thinking the shell was empty snapped the gun to loosen it. The cartridge happened to be loaded, however, and the result was the shot struck Mr. Thomas Byers in the calf of the leg. Fortunately neither the bone was broken nor the artery cut.

SEVERAL genuine novelties in the matter of entertainment are promised for the amateur minstrel show at The Victoria on the evenings of Wednesday and Thursday next. The first part will of course be a specially good one, the choruses, solos and funny stories being up to date and first class in every way. In the after part there is to be any amount of good dancing, more musical specialties and some good comedy. The stage settings promise to be something far and away better than the usual run, and the entertainment on the whole bids fair to be the best thing of the kind ever attempted in Victoria. That there will be a good house may be taken for granted; a good show, given by "our own boys," and for the benefit of the lacrosse club, should pack the house if anything can.

ON Thursday the provincial police getting wind of liquor being sold to some of the Indian crew of the schooner Sapphire, Sergt. Langley and officers Hooten and Hutchinson hid themselves in a shed on the rice mill's wharf in good view of the schooner and awaited developments. By and by John McDonald came along turning over the leaves of a note book and apparently greatly interested in its contents. However, when he got to a corner of the shed he was met by an Indian, the note book was pocketed and a bottle of whiskey produced. This changed hands and the officers heard McDonald patch up a plan with another Indian, Andrew Johnson, to buy him a couple of boxes of whiskey and ship it to San Juan on the steamer Maude consigned to two fictitious persons, Stockton and Dandy. McDonald got $15 from the Indians, bought the whiskey and handed an order on the boat for the package to the Indian, presumably from Stockton and Dandy. After the plans had all been laid, McDonald was considerably surprised to find himself in the clutches of an officer and the Indians were relieved of some forty bottles of whiskey. In the provincial police court yesterday McDonald was found guilty by Messrs. Pearson and Ward, J's P., of supplying liquor to Indians and was sentenced in one case to $100 fine or four months; in the other to $50 fine or three months imprisonment.

THE free library is shortly to receive a much needed addition of literature, $250 worth of books—chiefly standard works and books of reference—being now on their way here from the East.

MESSRS. R. Porter & Sons, of the Island Market, have been notified of the acceptance by the Dominion government of their tender for the supply of all meats required during the next four years by the Indian industrial schools at Kuper Island and Metlakatla.

THE Diocesan Literary and Scientific Society hold their opening conversation of the season in Temperance hall on Thursday next. On the following Thursday the society will have a debate on the subject: "Would the adoption of a free trade policy by the Dominion be beneficial to this province?"

THE ladies of the congregation of St. Andrew's cathedral are arranging to give a concert about the middle of next month for a very worthy object—the poor of the city regardless of creed. This will undoubtedly secure the hearty support of everybody, and the ladies may rest assured that their concert will be a great success.

GENERAL SECRETARY CARTER, of the Y. M.C.A., was agreeably surprised yesterday when a lady called and handed him a letter, on opening which he found a check for $100. This reduces the amount to meet the estimated budget to a minimum, in fact if some other philanthropist would follow the above example the budget would be complete.

TICKETS are selling well for the concert to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Clement Rowlands on Tuesday evening next under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Central Presbyterian church, James Bay. Mr. and Mrs. Rowlands will be assisted by the leading local talent, and everything points to a very enjoyable and successful entertainment.

YESTERDAY Mr. William Wallis, the well known professional cricketer and formerly of Kingsclere, Hampshire, England, was married to Miss Grace Nicholas, of this city. The ceremony took place at St. John's church at 8:30 in the morning, Rev. Percival Jenks officiating. The bride was given away by Mr. Walter Porter, the bridesmaid being Miss Lakin. Mr. Vincent Cae acted as best man.

LITTLE Lizzie May Willisroft's remains were yesterday accompanied to the grave by many sorrowing friends. The funeral took place from 38 Kane street early in the afternoon and afterwards from Christ church cathedral, where an appropriate service was conducted by Rev. Canon Beauland. The deceased, as will be remembered, was the victim of a sad fatality happening several days ago in the North, death having been caused through the accidental discharge of a gun.

THE following letter has been received by Mr. Mercado Cohen, proprietor of the Cuba cigar factory:

CAR VICTORIA, NORTH BEND, Nov. 14, 1894. SIR:—The Governor-General desires me to express his sincere thanks to you for sending the specimen of the manufacture of Victoria in the shape of the box of Primrose cigars, which you have been kind enough to forward for His Excellency's acceptance, a courtesy which he fully appreciates. I am, sir,

Your obedient servant, (sd.) W. CAMPBELL, Mr. Mercado Cohen, Victoria.

MORE than one of the Y. M. C. A. rooms were required to accommodate the large audience which attended the concert given there under the society's auspices last evening. Beyond all expectations the concert proved a success. The programme was manifestly pleasing, many of the numbers being rapturously encored. The programme in detail follows: Selection, Euphonic orchestra; solo, Mr. Wheeler; trio, mandolin, violin and piano; recitation, Miss Strachan; club swinging, Miss Murray; piano duet, Misses Davey; recitation, Miss Dunington; violin solo, Prof. Wickens; solo, Mr. Firth, and selection, Euphonic orchestra.

Two years ago a double-barrelled shotgun belonging to Capt. Allison was stolen from the C. P. N. Company, and the owner received $40 from the company to make up his loss. A day or two ago the provincial police found the gun in possession of a certain man who explained that it had been found a year ago by some boys hidden in an oak tree near Cedar Hill. In proof of his story he stated that the case had been left there when the boys found the gun. On going to the place sure enough the police discovered the old case warped and weather-beaten, in fact almost in pieces from its long exposure to the elements. The lads who found the gun had given it to the son of the man in whose possession the police found it.

Both Steamers Now Equipped With Modern Cold Storage—Advantage of Victoria's Auxiliary.

Mail bags only twelve days from London were taken on board the Royal Mail steamship Miowers shortly before she left for Sydney, which was about midnight on Friday, the large quantity of freight to be taken on her preventing an earlier departure. The mail is expected to be delivered in Sydney in the remarkably short space of thirty-three days from London. During the afternoon and evening a great many Victorians visited the fine ship, which while in the hands of her builders on the Tyne for repairs consequent on the Honolulu mishap was improved in several respects so as to be more perfectly adapted for her present route, the former fittings having been put in for the short run between Australia and New Zealand. The most important addition made of course are the cold storage compartments, on the most modern plan.

Mr. Robert Grayson, a commercial ambassador of the steamship company, who impresses one by his cheerful and certainly well founded confidence, was one of the outward passengers, and a COLONIST representative had an interesting conversation with him on board the steamer. Mr. Grayson had spent a few days in Victoria posting himself on business affairs here.

"The people of this city," he said, "have shown very satisfactory enterprise in providing the excellent cold storage warehouse which I find has recently been completed here, this being the only place where the products brought in our cold chambers can be stored at this end—up to the present large consignments have simply had to be sacrificed at whatever they would immediately bring. The cold storage accommodation has, by the way, been put into the Miowers without lengthening her, though I find that nearly everybody here is of the opinion that she has been made longer. The apparatus works splendidly, and I have here a letter (exhibiting it for perusal) from the Vancouver office of Burns, Philp & Co., complimenting Captain Stott on the exceptionally fine condition in which the fruit arrived—especially the pine apples from Fiji.

"The Warrimoo was to have been similarly fitted with cold storage during her stay in Sydney on the present trip, and she will not have to lay off for the purpose. I was sorry to hear on this Coast that the Arawa, while temporarily under charter, did not give the same satisfaction as the regular boats, for our interest naturally is to please the public, especially in the simple matter of courtesy to those who have business with the ships.

"The second cabin—not second 'class,' mind you—fitted up in the Miowers promises to be a great attraction, and on this first trip our agents, the C.P.R., have succeeded in having all the accommodation taken up—more than all in fact, for some of the ship's officers have had to turn out for the time being to make way for the passengers. This second cabin affords on a liberal scale the comforts incidental to a cabin passage while its occupants have the advantage of travelling at the reduced fare which is such an important consideration on a voyage of this length. This new accommodation takes the place of the fore-cabin berths, which were excellent in their way, but after all only 'first class steerage,' and not 'cabin' as now provided.

"While in Eastern Canada I interviewed several of the boards of trade, as well as individual merchants, with very satisfactory results so far as my impression of the outlook is concerned. Canada has, I consider, done more than her share so far, especially the British Columbia cities, and I expect when I set to work in Australia after what I have learned here it will be possible to make a better showing in the way of shipments from that end. It is unfortunately true that there the mercantile community have not gone about the matter of shipping to Canada with the system and earnestness shown by the exporters from this side. The establishment by the well known house of Burns, Philp & Co. of a branch in British Columbia helped to make the way easier for them, and it is expected that when Mr. J. S. Larke, the Canadian trade commissioner, gets to work in Australia, rapid development will follow. Mr. Larke will go from here next month probably. So confident is he in the permanent usefulness of his mission that I am told he contemplates at once taking his family to Australia.

"While the through trade has been a bit slow in working up, the way traffic at both ends, that is between here and Honolulu and between Sydney and Suva, has been very large, this being particularly the case with respect to the Fiji island business, which though by about a year the latest inaugurated is now the best patronized portion of the route."

Dedication To-day of the Pretty Little Church of St. Aidan.

Services This Morning and Evening in Other City Churches

The Presbyterian congregation which has hitherto been holding services in the public school house at Cedar Hill, will to-day worship for the first time in the new church just completed for them. For several years past the ladies' aid society of the congregation have been laying aside money for a building fund, until this summer it amounted to nearly $700. It was then decided to build, and the little frame church of St. Aidan is the result. The building, which cost a little over $1,000, and has a seating capacity for a couple of hundred people, is a neat, unpretentious structure, nicely finished inside with native wood instead of being plastered. The minister is Rev. R. G. MacRae, who also has Knox church and St. Columba church under his charge. St. Aidan's congregation is in a very satisfactory condition, the debt on the church being very small. The dedication is to take place to-day at 3 o'clock, when Rev. J. W. McMillan, of Vancouver, will preach a special sermon and the minister of the parish, Rev. Mr. MacRae, will be assisted in the service by Rev. D. MacRae, Rev. Dr. Campbell and Rev. W. L. Lay. The choir will be strengthened by several voices from the city and the music will be of a special nature. Mr. J. G. Brown will take the solo parts. The praise for the service will be:

Psalm 24—St. George's Edinburgh.
Veni Sanctus Spiritus.
Paraphrase 2.
Solo—"The Holy City."
Solo—"Arm, Arm Ye Brave"—Handel.
Hymns 232 and 233.

SISTER SOCIETIES.

Socials, Entertainments and Dances
Keep the Lodges Busy and Lively.

Oddfellows Will Welcome General Booth—Knights of Pythias Home Day Fixed.

Now that the season of short days and long nights has set in, the various societies are busy arranging socials, dances and various entertainments to while away the evening hours. Among the events for the coming week is a social to be given to-morrow evening in the A.O.U.W. hall by the Degree of Honor of the order. Among the ladies and gentlemen who have promised to assist are many local favorites and some talented members of the Grand lodge of Washington. A very pleasant time is promised to all who attend. The committee have been working hard for the past week, and all the arrangements are now completed. Richardson's orchestra will furnish the music for the event, which inaugurates a series of socials which the Degree of Honor propose holding during the winter months.

An event to look forward to is the ball to be given in the A.O.U.W. hall, on December 12, by Vancouver lodge A.O.F., and for which only a limited number of tickets will be sold. Richardson's five piece orchestra has been secured for the occasion, and the hall will be very tastefully decorated.

Court Robin Hood No. 8,100 at their last meeting were honored by a visit from all the district officers: Bro. J. Hilbert, of Nanaimo, D.C.R.; Bro. H. L. Salmon, D.S.C.R.; Bro. E. J. Salmon, district treasurer; and Bro. J. R. McKenzie, district secretary. Bro. Hilbert, who is a very able speaker, treated the members to reminiscences of his early days in the A.O.F. The other officers also gave very interesting remarks on the same subject, after which a very sociable time was spent, songs and recitations being the order of the evening. Final arrangements have been made for the concert and dance to be given on Thursday, the 29th inst., at Fairall hall, Esquimalt road, for which some of the best local talent has been engaged.

Court Vancouver meets to-morrow evening, when a number of candidates will be initiated into the order. The Companions of the Forest will give a social in Foresters' hall on Monday evening, November 26. A programme will be arranged and the ladies will provide the refreshments. Each member is entitled to invite two friends.

Acme lodge, I.O.O.F., meet to-morrow evening, when members are asked to bring any tickets they may have, as the anniversary committee are anxious to close up their accounts and report to the lodge.

Fernwood lodge, C.O.F., held its regular meeting, Friday, when P.G.M. Bro. Dwyer, N.G. Bro. Brotherton and Bro. Wm. Jackson were appointed a committee to act in conjunction with Dauntless lodge in the preparation and presenting of an address to General Booth upon his arrival in this city. The programme committee are at work getting up a concert and dance in the near future, the proceeds to go to assist an unfortunate brother who met with an accident some time ago. Three members were initiated into the Blue degree and eight into the Scarlet degree. Nomination of officers will take place at the next meeting.

The last regular meeting of Loyal Dauntless lodge, held on Tuesday evening last, was unusually interesting. The members of Loyal Fernwood lodge turned out in full force to pay a fraternal visit, and there were upwards of a hundred Odd Fellows present. One member was received by "clearance," and two by initiation; one proposition for membership being also received. After business had been disposed of, refreshments were served and the appended programme gone through with: Song, "The Midshipmite," Bro. Frith; song, "Waiting at the Window for His Boy," Bro. Frank Leroy; song, "The Hat My Father Wore," Bro. Beeton; harmonica solo, Bro. Wescott; recitation, "The Spanish Lord," Bro. Cooper; song, "Tom Bowline," Bro. Piper; song, "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," Bro. W. F. Fullerton; song, "The Village Blacksmith," Bro. T. Wilkerson; recitation, "The Gospel Minister," Bro. S. Pierce; song, "Patrick Mind the Baby," Bro. H. Frith; harmonica solo, Bro. Wescott; song, "McKenna's Insurance and the Irish Jubilee," Bro. Frank Leroy; song, "Where Are Now the Merry Party," Bro. Beeton. Speeches were also made by Prov. Grand Master Bro. W. J. Dwyer, P. G. M. Bro.

"SCHOOLROOM ETHICS."

An Interesting Paper Read Before the Teachers' Association by Mr. Pineo.

The Three-Fold Character of the Instruction Every True Teacher Must Impart.

"Schoolroom Ethics" was the subject of an admirable paper read recently before the Victoria Teachers' Association by Mr. A. B. Pineo. The paper having excited much favorable criticism among the members of the teaching profession, it is here published in full.

"A few years ago," Mr. Pineo says in introduction, "the writer was one day wandering along the shores of an estuary of the Bay of Fundy, busily engaged in carefully splitting and upturning the slaty strata of the old carboniferous age in search of evidences of the existence of living beings during that primeval period of the great earth history. Presently his search was rewarded by the unexpected discovery of a well-defined series of foot-prints, deeply imbedded in an upturned stone. Millions of years ago—how many one can scarcely dare conjecture—an uncouth, slimy reptile left its ready retreat by the river margin and wandered out over the muddy bottom left bare by the receding tide. As it passed, its trail was clearly marked by deeply printed tracks which the first wave of the incoming tide partially filled with a deposit of oozy silt. Wave after wave followed in quick succession, and soon completed the obliteration. Age succeeded age, and under the pressure of many feet of overlying rock-forming material, the soft mud was changed into solid stone. The race of which our reptile was the type passed away with its contemporaries, and was succeeded by higher forms which in turn gave place to successive ones still higher in the scale of being, until Man—God's last creative work on earth—appeared to crown the might line of grand ascent of life. Meanwhile great changes of level had taken place. By the elevation of the land, or the subsidence of the sea, the fossil-bearing stratum containing the footprints made so many years before had been brought again to light to tell its unmistakable story of the beings and conditions that existed upon the earth in its primeval age. The footprint-bearing slab was secured and forwarded to Canada's greatest geologist, examined and described by him, and is now, no doubt, peacefully resting upon the shelves of the Redpath museum at Montreal.

"But what has this to do with school-room ethics? you inquire. The one thought that I wish by this simple narrative to impress upon my fellow-teachers is that impressions once made are made for all time—for eternity. Such impressions may be unintentionally, unconsciously, made, but not less surely are they received and crystallized into never-dying character. We are continually giving ourselves to others, and especially is this true of teachers; those who have under their care and whose work it is to instruct the tender youth, to guide their nascent thoughts and mould their plastic dispositions as no other outside the home circle can. Man is a threefold being, possessed of a physical, a mental and a moral or spiritual nature, living a threefold life on three distinct planes which are yet so interwrought that neither is complete of itself, but each is the complement of the others. In the development of a perfect manhood or womanhood neither the physical, the mental nor the moral capabilities of the individual can be ignored. To train the hands is indeed important, for nature bestows her goods only upon those that labor for them. It is by the sweat of man's brow that bread is produced, and he who while eating of that bread affects to despise the honest labor by which it was won from nature or regards that labor as degrading, is himself only a deserving object of contempt and pity. To train the mind is essential, for it is man's mind that makes him king among men. It is his intelligence that makes his physical labor a hundredfold more effective; it is his mind that gives him dominion over the physical forces of the earth and enables him to win from nature in largest measure the things that make for his material comfort.

"But above all the interests involved in physical and mental training, those of the moral plane rank supreme—those considerations that deal with all that is highest and noblest and best in man, that raise him above his selfish, sordid baser self, making him a co-worker with the infinite one in the uplifting of the world. We all know many instances—men of brilliant intellectual parts, geniuses we call them, very kings upon the intellectual plane, but who because lacking in high moral qualities and by shaping their lives to selfish ends have become a curse rather than a blessing to humanity. That man, and he alone, is truly great who has made the world better and happier for having lived—who has wiped the tear from sorrow's eye and bound with healing balm the bruised and broken heart; who has fringed the clouds with silvery beauty; who has planted the rose and watered it into bloom upon the desert waste, beautified the forest wilds or gathered the splendors of the valley into charming symmetry. The question now becomes a practical one. What significance do these facts bear for our educational councils, for our school boards, and most particularly for ourselves? We are all concerned in the obvious conclusion that a perfect system of education is only one that keeps in view the threefold nature of the child to be educated—the physical culture of the child must not be lost sight of, his intellectual nature must be duly matured and directed, and his moral or spiritual nature must be duly trained into lofty growth. Of these the second is more important than the first, and the third than either, but neither is complete without the other. The brain cannot say to the hand, 'I have no need of thee; nor can the soul say to the brain, 'I need thee not here'; but yet the soul is higher than the brain, even as the brain fills a more important place than does the hand.

"The whole child must be at school." All his useful faculties must be directed upwards and most emphatically must all his noble possibilities for moral growth be encouraged. We are being continually reminded that this is a practical age, and that education should fit boys and girls for the actual duties of life. Beyond question this is eminently true as a statement of fact; but how distorted and untrue are the ideas that apparently prevail so generally regarding the real nature of those active duties which are to make up the sum of a successful life! For, according to our highest ideals, the highest aim of education cannot be to make men shrewd and sharp to take advantage of their fellow men; to live by their wits at the expense of others' comfort and well-being, and by trickery and fraud, to live in affluence while other men, more honest and worthy, starve.

"This the education of the brain alone will do. But the education that takes into account the moral nature of the child, while it abates not one iota from the diligence to lead out his growing intellect, to make him keen to reason, ready to perceive and quick to choose right sanctities all these powers to higher uses. The development of a high, noble, manly character is of the utmost importance, and in our consideration of the value of educational training upon the children the question of character is the transcendent one. It is not what studies are taught or what accomplishments are imparted, or what extent of information is bestowed. These considerations have their important place, it is true, but they are secondary to the higher and more spiritual ones.

"Too much are our schools given up to the mere business of instruction, of making walking encyclopedias of our boys and girls, and too little time is given to the more important work of developing in them broad and symmetrical characters. To make scholars is well if it can be done without the sacrifice of higher objects, but to make men and women strong in mind and pure and true in all their thoughts and acts is of first importance. For it must not be forgotten that the children of to-day will be the ruling factors in the world a few years hence, and surely we do not wish our present state of society to exist forever. We deplore the presence of the dark cloud of vice and crime and moral impurity that envelops the world—licentiousness, intemperance, depravity and rampant injustice continue to hold sway through the many phases of social, commercial and political life.

"What hope of betterment? Whence shall come the forces that will right the wrong, relieve the misery, stay the injustice, and redeem earth's moral wastes? Whence but from those into whose care is committed the sacred trust of training the men and women that are to make the world of the next generation? Whence but from these devoted members of the teaching profession who shall be deeply conscious of the importance of the development of that high moral character that shall make for the uplifting of the world?

"Ours is not a mere trade, a money-getting business, nor yet a work of honor. The teacher that works only for stipend or class averages has not attained to a lofty conception of the true dignity and worthiness and responsibility of his calling. The teacher should never fail to realize that he is a character-builder; that he is reproducing himself for good or ill in the development of character which shall in turn mould other character until character shall cease to be. For in the development of character personality is not more potent than environment.

"In the schoolroom every feeling, every resolve with which the child responds to act or word or look of the teacher is the teacher's contribution towards the final permanence of the pupil's character, so that whether he realizes it or not the results of his work are to be read in lines that will not be effaced. When these lines come out clear and full into the outlines of higher aspiration, self-reliance, resolute purpose, unswerving rectitude and generous altruism in his pupil, then the teacher has indeed been a true educator.

"Is it true that we as teachers realize the full measure of our responsibility in this regard? Do we consciously set ourselves to work for moral growth, realizing that the tree of knowledge which we are set to cultivate is human character, and that we to be faithful must toil to make it not bitter but sweet, not hurtful but for the healing of the nations? But this is what every faithful teacher must do.

"Nor can he ask for rules to guide in this great work. There can be no text book of morals in the school, nor can the subject have a distinct and peculiar place in the limit table. The teacher need not be even a preacher of morals, but he must be a living witness. His pupils must be able to recognize in every word and act a high moral tone, strong moral courage, unflinching rectitude and an unflinching devotion to duty.

"Thou must thyself be true, if thou the truth wouldst teach; Thy soul must overflow if thou another soul wouldst reach."

"The stream cannot rise higher than its source, nor can the influences that go out from the teacher make for a character higher than his own. But character is not creed, and a profession of faith does not necessarily imply an exalted moral life. I care not to what theological dogmas my boy's teacher may subscribe. He may be Catholic, Protestant, Jew or Mahomedan; I only ask that his character be unimpeachable, that his moral tone and tastes be refined and that his ideals be pure and true; in short that he be, as the Greeks so beautifully said, 'high-souled.' That he be not rough or rude or coarse in manners goes without saying, for refined character must always reveal itself in refined manners. A Chesterfield may, indeed, be a polished scoundrel, but the high-souled will always show a thoughtful regard for the feelings of others, and such is the very essence of good manners.

"I have not dwelt thus earnestly upon the ethical side of the teachers' work because I have any suspicion that the Victoria teachers are notably deficient in these moral qualities the importance of which I have sought to emphasize. On the contrary I rejoice to recognize the high moral standard actually attained by the teachers of this province. But I present these few thoughts, not new but urged afresh, in the hope that they may be helpful to you as they are to me, and may quicken our zeal in seeking the highest pinnacles of our divine calling. For, under our present system of education, admittedly imperfect, and in the mad race for percentages, promotions and class averages, we are apt to be careful and trouble about the minor matters of daily routine and somewhat neglectful of matters of higher import, upon which preferment, salary and apparent success do not so much depend. It will do us good to occasionally turn aside from the routine of daily tasks, and from the details of our work. For thus shall those higher and more spiritual phases become to us more real, more true, and the petty cares and vexations of school-room life shall be overwhelmed by the grandeur of the larger conception of the teachers' mission.

the House—How This Has Come About.

The "galleries" have certainly been puzzled for the past few days by the vagaries of the desks in the Legislative Assembly chamber, which have moved about in a way contrary to all precedent, and have finally come to the halt in a sadly disordered condition.
The confusion, however, does not extend to those on the right of Mr. Speaker, which are in customary good order, in two rows of eight, the rear rank correctly covering the front. On the opposition side, however, the military parade of the opening day produced no inspiration, and, as will be seen from the diagram, not only have they irregularly crowded, but there are no less than three blanks in the rear rank. The real cause of the confusion appears to have been that too many of the opposition, being necessarily excluded from cabinet rank, insisted upon at least a front rank in their own parade. The first obstacle to the realization of their ambition met them when they found that Mr. Smith, a supporter of the government, had again located himself in the seat he had occupied during the two preceding terms of the legislature, and that Mr. Kellie, who hitherto has had to content himself with a far distant corner on the opposition side, had moved up to the front adjoining Mr. Smith, while the two seats at the end of the first row were also pre-empted for ministerial supporters.
Apart from the personal dislikes to taking back seats, it was believed to be absolutely necessary in order to ensure effect for the intended tactics of the opposition, that their forces should be arrayed in a compact form.
There being twenty acknowledged government supporters after the Speaker had been chosen, and only sixteen desks on each side, four of that number had to sit opposite to their colleagues, but they having no secrets in their tactics, did not object to the proximity of opposition members, who in their turn, however, would not have even the appearance of associating with those who would not come into their caucus.
Though to be obliging the government members surrendered the fourth seat in the row in exchange for the sixth they would yield no more, and the opposition therefore picked up their desks and flocked to the places shown on the following plan:

DISPUTE FOR DEATH.

Hansen Was Trying to Change Places
With Quail at the Machine

When the Fatal Shot Was Fired—
Jury's Verdict in Nanaimo Accident.

NANAIMO, Nov. 17.—(Special)—The inquiry into the causes which led to the death of the miner, William Quail, in No. 1 shaft yesterday, occupied all yesterday evening and the greater part of the afternoon to-day. Dr. R. E. McKechnie, who examined the body, explained in detail the shocking injuries which had resulted in the death of deceased. Joshua Martell, the company's shot lighter, was then called.
He had, he said, inspected the places where both gangs of men were working, found the shots all right, the places free from gas and had told the men to fire the shots. Quail and Hansen were working on the incline, and Webster and Wilson were coming toward them with work in the crosstie. A sketch plan was placed in evidence to show the relative positions of the men when at work and the directions in which the holes were drilled before being fired. Witness had proceeded to attend to other business after telling the men they could fire.

Inspector Dick—What do you do when two parties are working toward each other that way?

Mr. Martell—They are instructed to rap
a signal on the face until they get an answer.
I do not know if they did so that time.

Christian Hansen, the partner of Quail, was then called. He had met Martell in the morning; he told them they could fire;
they went up and fired a shot at once;
they then set the machine to drill another hole; they were there fifteen minutes when they heard a knocking from Charley Webster, who was working in the crosstie.
They rapped in answer and went out. After ten minutes no shot was fired and witness went around to the crosstie to see what was the matter; was told that the squib would not go off; he tried again and the shot was fired. Webster told witness that there was another shot to fire, but that as it was on the rib there was no danger. When witness got back Quail started to drill and witness to load a box. Had said to Quail
"Get out and let me drill and you load."
Received no reply and was about to insist on taking the drill when the shot in the crosstie went off and they were in darkness. Witness was terribly agitated. Had crawled around in his knees trying to find him, but in vain. Had said "Good God, Bill, you must be blown to bits!" Went for a light, met Webster and returned. [The remainder of the story has already been given.]

Cross-examined—Did not expect to get a rap for the second shot as he did not think they would be through for six or seven yards.

Charles Webster, who with Wilson was in the crosstie, then told his story. They had agreed to rap in case of danger. Hansen had rapped and they went out. They rapped for their first shot, but when Hansen came they concluded as there was no danger to waste no more time by rapping.
Witness then explained at length the methods by which they concluded that there was no danger.

John Wilson, his partner, told much the same story. Did not rap for the second shot, because they had agreed that it was not necessary. After some further unimportant testimony the inquest adjourned until this afternoon, when the jury retired to consider their verdict. They were out two hours, and brought in the following decision: "We, the jury, find that the deceased W. Quail came to his death from a shot blown through from a crosstie driving toward the incline on which the said Quail was working. But while we consider the death of Quail was caused by an error in judgment in miscalculating the distance between the two places by the parties, we are of the opinion that Webster and Wilson are guilty of neglecting their duty in not giving the customary signals by tapping, and we are also of the opinion that Hansen did not take sufficient precautions for the safety of himself and partner. We beg to make the following recommendation: That when two places are approaching each other that the shot lighter see before firing that parties signal each other and receive an answer."

The verdict will probably result in the prosecution of Charles Webster and John Wilson under the general provisions of the Coal Miners' Regulation act, which require miners to do everything needful to preserve the safety of themselves and others working in the mine.

HAWAIIAN ADVICES.

Possibility of Disturbances—More Activity
Among the Loyalists—The Japanese a Possible Element of Trouble.

HONOLULU, Nov. 10.—(per steamer Australia)—H.M.S. Hyacinth, which was to have sailed for Marquesas a week ago, has indefinitely postponed her sailing. This is rumored to be on account of an apprehended disturbance here.

The police are said to have discovered more activity among a section of the royalists in plotting to restore the Queen. These are chiefly white men. The natives take no part except to stand in fear of the vaunted intentions of the socialist leaders. The government is fully informed of their plots.
The plotters are fusing over an expected importation of arms, as they have not arms and ammunition, but probably little or nothing will be heard of it.

About ten days ago the Japanese commissioner wrote to Foreign Minister Hatch complaining that as reported by the papers Minister Thurston had said at Washington that it was desirable to root out the Chinese and Japanese at Hawaii. He wished to be informed whether this government cherished such policy towards Japan. After much delay Mr. Hatch replied in substance that a reported newspaper interview could scarcely be an adequate basis for diplomatic inquiries; that the government did not believe that Mr. Thurston had made any such statement as that alleged; that the government did desire to substitute the importation of European laborers in place of those from Japan and Asia, but that this was totally different from any desire to root out or root out the Japanese laborers resident here. Since the adoption of the constitution of the public the tone of the Japanese representative has become increasingly unfriendly, due, it is said, to the fact that while no ground of complaint is given by the exclusion of the Japanese as such from voting privileges, they are practically left with no share in the suffrage, an equality which the commissioner had previously demanded for them. An increasingly frac-
